NCAA TWO-MINUTE DRILL

CALL A REAL COLLEGE DRIVE. BEAT THE COACH.

A free daily game at ncaa2mindrill.com. One real late-game FBS drive a day, every snap animated, scored against the real head coach. Saban mode and Cignetti mode go in the app for one $0.99 unlock. Fan-made; not affiliated with anyone.

01 · THE PRODUCT

ONE DRIVE A DAY. YOU CALL EVERY SNAP.

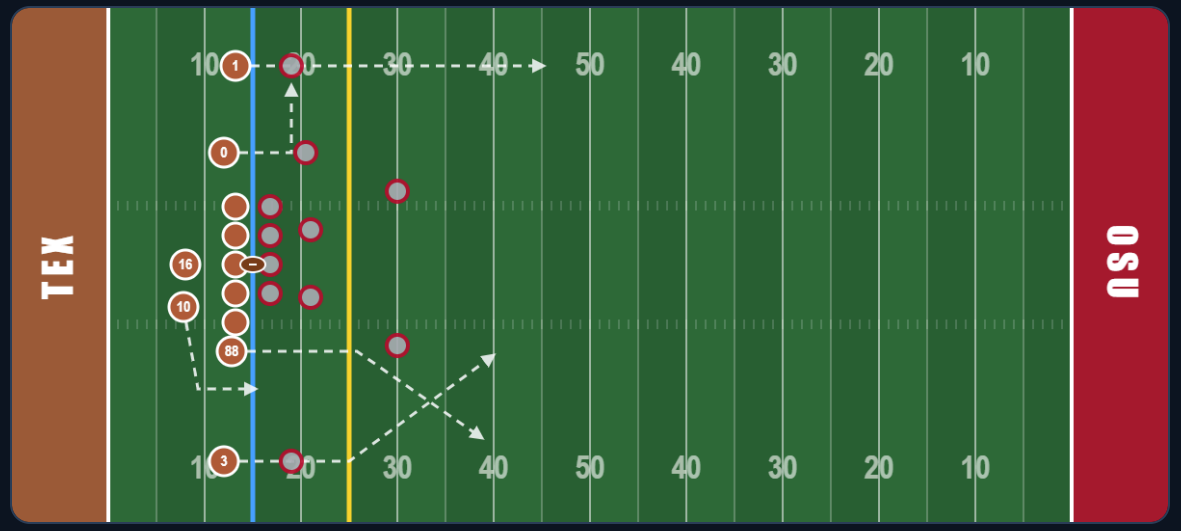

822
REAL DRIVES

3
SEASONS, 2023–25

19
ROUTES PER RECEIVER

8
RUN CONCEPTS

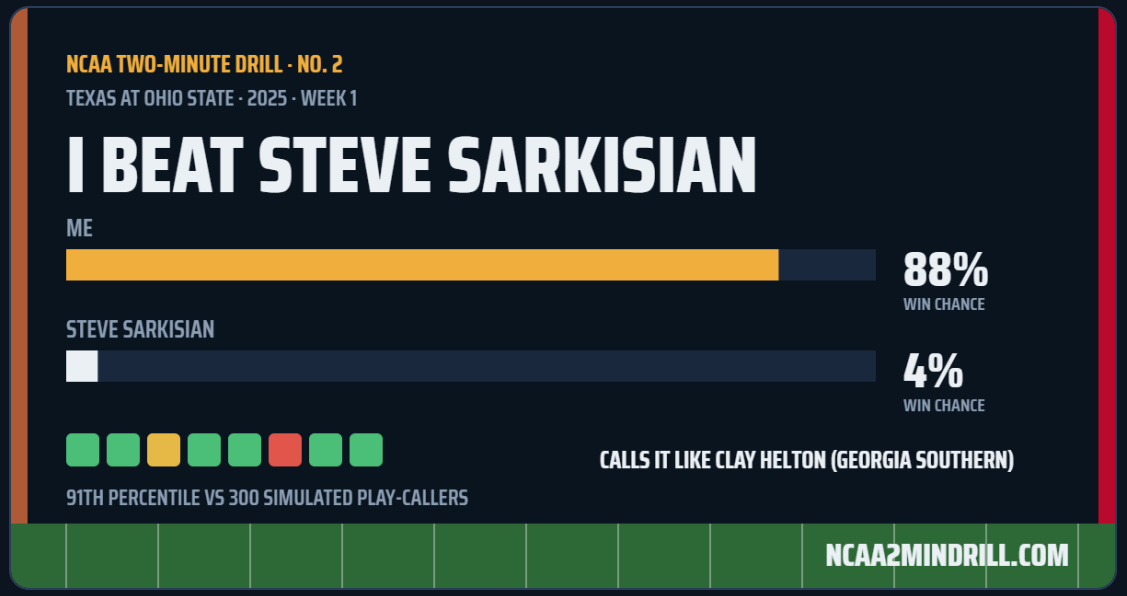

- Real score, clock, field position, timeouts and players from the actual game.
- Runs: inside zone, power, counter, outside zone, toss, draw, keeper, sneak — left or right, or tap the hole on the field.
- Passes: full route tree, one-tap concepts (Four Verts, Mesh, Smash, Flood…), play action, roll-outs, screens, Hail Marys.
- Clock: spike, kneel, timeouts, tempo (hustle / neutral / milk it). The defense shows a look before every snap.
- Every result is a real college snap of that type; penalties, scrambles, strip sacks and kicker quality all come from real rates.

The pass screen: a route for every receiver, the defense's look already shown (here: blitz, linebacker creeping right).

02 · WHY PEOPLE SHARE IT

YOU ARE SCORED AGAINST THE REAL COACH

Every result makes this 1200×630 card, sized for X, iMessage and group chats.

THE VERDICT

Your win chance after your drive vs. the coach's after his. "I beat Steve Sarkisian 88%–4%" is the hook.

SNAP BY SNAP

Your calls next to the coach's actual calls, each graded 🟩 🟧 🟥 against the best option on the board.

PERCENTILE

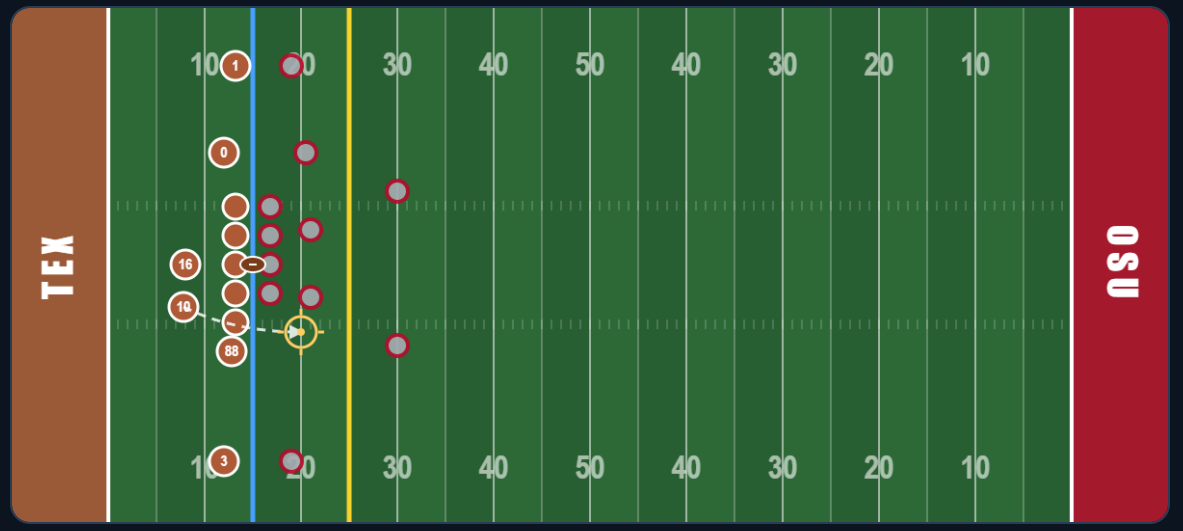

300 simulated college play-callers replay the same drive. You get a rank and a dry line to go with it.

"YOU CALL IT LIKE…"

Your pass rate overall, on early downs and on passing downs, matched to a real FBS head coach's tendencies.

EVERY SNAP IS ANIMATED, WITH POPUPS

- Receivers run the routes you called; corners mirror them; safeties play their shell; linebackers drop then pursue.
- The ball flies with a real arc and lands where the pass was actually caught; the catch becomes run-after-catch.
- Backs hit the hole you tapped; the defense converges on the real spot of the tackle. Tosses pitch, draws fake, counters cut back.
- Popups on the moment: `INTERCEPTED!` `PICK SIX!` `STRIP SACK!` `MOSSED HIM!` `JUKED HIM!` `TACKLE FOR LOSS!` `HOUSE CALL!` `FLAG`
- Three to five seconds a play. Tap the field to skip.

The run game: tap where you want him to hit it. The crosshair is the hole; the concept is how he gets there.

DRY. LITERAL. DEADPAN.

> "The offensive line would like to be excluded from this narrative."

> "Incomplete. The clock stops for this, per rule 3-3-2, roughly."

> "He ran that one straight into a meeting."

> "Three points. He will be left alone now, as kickers prefer."

> "You out-called James Franklin. He has a staff. You have a browser."

DO

- Short sentences. One idea per post.
- Specific over clever. Real numbers only.
- Jokes land on the user, the moment, or football itself.

DON'T

- Dunk on a named coach or player. We compare; we don't pile on.
- Hype, exclamation points, "trending", fake quotes or stats.
- Emoji in body copy (grade squares in share text are the one exception).

WHERE COLLEGE FOOTBALL PEOPLE ALREADY ARE

CFB TWITTER / X

The core. Reply under viral late-game clips within the hour: "we have that drive, go call it better" + link. Saturday nights and Sunday mornings.

R/CFB

One honest builder post. Then show up in game-thread aftermath with the exact drive and the coach's real calls. Be a person, not a brand.

TEAM SUBREDDITS & FORUMS

Post the day a drive from their team is the daily. Lead with the situation, not the product.

GROUP CHATS

The share card is the product here. Make it the thing people screenshot and argue about.

DAILY-PUZZLE PEOPLE

Wordle, Connections, Immaculate Grid crowd. "A daily for football people."

HASHTAGS & TAGS

#CFB, #CollegeFootball, the day's team hashtags. Tag official team accounts only about their actual game. Never tag coaches.

THE DELIVERABLES

1. 30 daily X templates under 240 chars, slots for `{away} at {home}, {year}`, `{coach}`, `{down by N}, {clock} left`. Half one-liners, half questions.
2. 10 reply templates for viral late-game clips. Helpful fan; the link once.
3. One r/CFB launch post, 200–300 words, as the builder, honest caveats (it's a model; players rated by season EPA).
4. An 8-post X launch thread: what it is, a snap, the animation, the coach comparison, the percentile, "you call it like", Saban mode, the link.
5. App store copy: App Store subtitle (30), promo text (170), description (first 3 lines sell), 5 keywords; Google Play short description (80).
6. 15 share-card captions across beat / even / lost. Backbone: "I beat {coach} {me}–{coach}".
7. A 4-week in-season calendar (next slide is the shape).
8. Five unexpected-but-welcome ideas in the voice: weekly Coaches-table post, "which coach do you call like" hook, Saban-mode survivors roll call…

07 · THE WEEK

BUILT AROUND THE COLLEGE FOOTBALL WEEK

MON

"Yesterday's wildest finish is tomorrow's daily." Tease the matchup.

TUE

Last weekend's drive is the daily. Post the situation as a question. Team-subreddit post.

WED

Coaches table: who's added the most win chance late. One dry stat.

THU

"You call it like..." hook: which coach do you resemble? Reply-bait.

FRI

Saban mode survivors roll call. Share-card screenshots from the week.

SAT

Live. Reply under late-game clips within the hour. No scheduled posts.

SUN

"Call it better" recap of Saturday's drives that went wrong. Link.

Offseason: lean on Practice (822 drives), the Coaches table, and throwback drives ("two years ago today"). App launch week replaces the calendar with the launch thread, the r/CFB post, and daily replies.

NEVER

- Claim affiliation, endorsement, or "official" anything.
- Invent user counts, ratings, press mentions or quotes.
- Buy, bot, or fake engagement. Real players, real results.
- Use real player names in jokes. Coach names appear only in the comparison framing.
- Ask for anything that isn't in this brief without asking first.
